

Lucius Lester Hutchens, only son of Charles and Effie, would distinguish himself in the medical profession. This was very fitting, as he came from a prominent Quaker family line. Lucius was born on November 16, 1902, at White Hall, Greene County, Illinois.

Lucius Hutchens As a Young Boy

Infant Lucius

Lucius As a Young Man

Lucius attended school and graduated at White Hall, Illinois and went on to the University of Illinois where he entered Pre-Med School. He worked his way through the University of Illinois Medical School in Chicago. From Medical school he practiced at the Methodist Hospital in Indianapolis, Indiana.